2010 "Do Unto Others" Animals and Religion Conference

Overview

- How are we disturbed into recognition?
- What is it like to see and be seen by other animals?
- How do religious and spiritual traditions help us to recognize the Other?
- How does the recognition of other animals enrich and disturb religious and spiritual traditions?
- Can we imagine ourselves through the eyes of another animal, and how does being seen change us and challenge philosophical, religious and spiritual categories?

The 2nd Annual "Do Unto Others" Conference invites scholarly, religious and activist reflection on the mutually transforming possibilities of seeing and being seen by other animals. Our keynote speaker is Paul Berry, longtime animal advocate and former CEO of Best Friends Animal Society. The day will consist of presentations, panels and opportunities that enrich understanding and inform advocacy.
